SHOUP'S PLATFORM

STRAIGHTFORWARD STATEMENT OF COMPANY'S ATTITUDE BY P. E. PRESIDENT

The principles that govern any controversy before the National War Labor Board, as expressed in the President's proclamation of April 8th, include:

"In exercising right to organize workers shall not use coercive measures of any kind to induce persons to join their organizations, nor to induce employers to bargain or deal therewith," and

"In establishments where the employer meets only with employes or representatives engaged in said establishment the continuance of such conditions shall not be deemed a grievance."

"Any arbitration would have to be within, not without, these principles."

We have declined to recognize these brotherhoods which is unquestionably within our legal rights and in accord with our rights as set forth by the National War Labor Board principles.

To deal with any questions raised by the officers of the brotherhoods, claiming to represent some of our employes, means first to recognize the brotherhoods which for reasons many times set forth, we will not do. And that question under the principles quoted, it is not necessary to arbitrate. We have no obligation to recognize brotherhood officers as speaking for our employes.

If there be questions between our company and its employes, we will first try to settle them in the family without recourse elsewhere; and we will find an easy, open and fair way to get at the answer, too. I do not care to make my letter to Captain Connell public without conference with him. As to the mediation cases submitted through Secretary of Labor Wilson, they have all been dealt with through that channel; such employes as have not been returned to work still have the right to see me if they wish and I will undertake to satisfy them as to their getting a square deal.

We have nothing to arbitrate as between this company and the officers of the brotherhoods.

PAUL SHOUP,
President Pacific Electric Railway.

MARTIN-STURGES WEDDING

A pretty home wedding was celebrated on Sunday evening when Miss Laura Sturges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Sturges, of 213 Jackson street, was married to Merle Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Martin, of Escondido. The ceremony was performed by Elder H. G. Lucas of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church and was witnessed by about twenty of the immediate relatives of both young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin left Sunday evening for a brief wedding trip in San Diego, after which they will return to Glendale, where the bride will remain with her parents for a time as Mr. Martin leaves on Monday for Camp Lewis, to be followed later by his wife when arrangements can be made for her to be near him. She expects to be in Tacoma. The Sturges family are newcomers to Glendale, having arrived about three weeks ago from Phoenix, Arizona.

MANY AT CATALINA

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK BAKER RETURN FROM VISIT TO ISLAND

Attorney and Mrs. Frederick Baker and son, Frederick H., returned the first of this week from a week's vacation spent at Catalina. Mrs. Baker said the Magic Isle is an ideal place to enjoy a rest, but she thinks if other towns of Southern California should be as well represented there as Glendale was last week there wouldn't be standing room on the Island. Among those from Glendale whom Mrs. Baker noticed were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wilde and two children, who will remain until next Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hinckley, Dr. and Mrs. Nat Green and daughter, Mrs. H. A. McPherson and daughters, Miss Elizabeth Jackson, Vincent Salmacia, Irving Westwood, Lehman Crandall, Ruth Sanford, William Balthis, Roscoe Puffer, and Mr. Blanford.

THE SUGAR SITUATION

SORGHUM RAISING MAY PROVE ONE SOLUTION OF THE PROBLEM

It has been suggested that the sugar situation might be considerably improved by planting sorghum in the gardens and vacant lots. Of course it is too late to do this this year but it might be well for home gardeners and owners of vacant lots and acreage to be considering the matter and determine whether or not it might be practicable for next year.

Mrs. Frederick Baker, 109 North Maryland, says she planted a row of sorghum in her garden this spring to satisfy herself that it will do well in our soil and it is developing finely. She is confident that it would pay to raise this crop on a large scale, and she estimates that one lot planted in sorghum would yield thirty gallons of syrup. An acre is said to produce a hundred and fifty gallons of syrup and an average lot is one-fifth of an acre.

Of course it would be useless to raise sorghum if there were no mill convenient and Mrs. Baker suggests that a municipal sorghum mill would be a great convenience as well as a paying proposition. When asked if she thought raising sorghum would be more practicable than growing sugar beets for syrup, Mrs. Baker said she thought the sorghum when properly handled produced a better quality of syrup than the beets.

If it should be found that this crop can be grown to good advantage here it would be a valuable and patriotic work for some one to canvass the owners of vacant lots and see how many would be willing to plant sorghum next spring and then arrange for a mill either under municipal or private ownership.

BOWLING TEAM LOSES THREE GAMES TO PASADENA YESTERDAY

By losing three games to the Pasadena Lodge in the series of bowling games being played among the Elks lodges of this district, the Glendale Lodge, No. 1289, is now tied for first place with the Pasadena lodge. The Glendale team has now lost 7 games, while 14 have been won, and there are still four weeks to go. There are seven teams in the contest. Following the bowling at Pasadena yesterday evening, refreshments were served at the Pasadena lodge, about sixty Glendale people being included in the large crowd witnessing the sport. RED CROSS DOINGS

Mrs. Eva Tuft, chairman of the surgical dressings department, requests that the surgical dressings workers report on their regular days next week.

The tin foil situation is reported as looking up. The large amount of tin foil which has continued to be so generously supplied by Glendale people has presented another cause for labor-shortage difficulties at headquarters, which was quite materially relieved yesterday by the volunteer services of seven Glendale High School girls who did excellent work in preparing a large quantity for shipment. A great deal still remains to be put in good order, a simple task, consisting merely of smoothing out and folding the crumpled balls. Recruits enlisting for this service will be performing a really patriotic work.

RETURNS FROM NEW YORK

Gordon L. Smith, who last year sold his grocery and hardware business at 771 South Brand to H. J. Horn, and went by auto to New York, is again back in Glendale, the best place on earth to live, and will probably soon be in business again.

AMERICANS PARTICIPATE IN BIG OFFENSIVE

YANKEES AND FRENCH ADVANCE BETWEEN SOISSONS AND CHATEAU-THIERRY IN ALLIED DRIVE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE, July 18.—French and American forces today attacked along a twenty-five mile front running from Fontenoy to Belleau and large initial advances have been made.

Late this afternoon the Americans were still advancing everywhere on a front where they and the French are co-operating efctively in a gigantic counter attack between Soissons and Chateau-Thierry. By noon today the Americans had captured a dozen villages and towns including Givray, Torcy, Belleau and Hautvesnes.

The line has so far advanced to three or four miles, it has been learned authoritatively, the greatest advance being in the Aisne valley.

An American commander in this engagement sent back this message: "We have met the Boche on his own line, a sharp fight took place. The Boche turned and ran like hell, pursued by the Yankees."

A thousand prisoners and more than twenty cannon were taken. Several American detachments asked permission to advance further but some are being held back to keep the line straight.

The attack was a surprise and the concentration for the assault was most rapid. Guns and horses were brought to the front on trucks.

The greatest force of Americans yet used in a single engagement are participating in the fighting. This is the biggest allied offensive since April, 1917. Tanks and airplanes are co-operating with other branches in the fighting.

GERMANS HELD ON MARNE

ENEMY SUFFERS SEVERE LOSSES AT JAULGONNE—BATTLE RAGING SOUTH OF THE RIVER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WITH THE AMERICANS ON THE MARNE, July 18.—French and American forces have stopped the Germans. East of Chateau-Thierry the allies' flanks are safely held, the Americans inflicting severe punishment. Near Jaulgonne the German dead are lying four deep. South of the Marne the battle surges back and forth, the Germans being unable to gain permanently at Mezy and Comblesy. East of Mezy the Germans have not attempted to recross the river.

Sergt. J. F. Brown of the American forces after killing four machine gun crews with an automatic rifle, took 159 prisoners.

ENEMY POUNDS RHEIMS MOUNTAIN

MAKE DESPERATE EFFORT TO GAIN HEIGHTS—LITTLE CHANGE ON MARNE-CHAMPAGNE FRONT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, July 18.—There is little change on the Marne-Champagne front. The Germans were easily repelled north of Prosnes. The enemy is directing the heaviest blow at Rheims mountain in an effort to gain the heights between Rheims and Epernay.

The Germans lost 70,000 men in the first two days of the fighting in the Dormans pocket. The enemy hurled dense masses of troops against the Rheims positions, but the allies countered fiercely, preventing any advance.

HINDENBURG CAUGHT IN HIS OWN TRAP

IN ATTEMPT TO LURE ALLIED RESERVES FROM EAST MARNE SALIENT HE GIVES FOCH CHANCE FOR BLOW

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
(By J. W. T. Mason, United Press War Expert)

NEW YORK, July 18.—General Hindenburg has been caught in his own trap. In an effort to lure the allies' reserves to the east part of the Marne salient he weakened his western salient forces.

General Foch seized this opportunity to counter to protect Paris. The American attack there may become a major offensive judging from the rapidity with which the German forces are crumpling.

FRENCH DRIVEN FROM DORMANS CREST

MAKE GAINS ON FOUR-MILE FRONT EAST OF CHATEAU-THIERRY, CAPTURING VILLAGES AND WOOD

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, July 18.—French forces attacked on a four-mile front east of Chateau-Thierry, capturing Mantueil, Ventuil and the Deroe Woods.

The French have been driven from the crest north of Dormans by a German local operation.

GOVERNMENT SEIZES STEEL PLANT

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The Becker Steel Company, which has a secret German process for high-speed steel production, has been taken over by the enemy alien property custodian and is now working on government contracts.

RAISING BELLADONNA

C. A. SALYER GROWS SEVEN AND A HALF ACRES OF UNUSUAL CROP

An interesting and unusual industry being carried on by a Glendale man is the raising of belladonna, of which C. A. Salyer, of 314 South Central avenue, has 7½ acres growing on San Fernando road, near Park avenue. This plant is raised for the drug it contains, which is greatly in demand in some parts of the world, Germany and Austria having been the principal markets before the beginning of the war.

The cultivation and care of this unique plant requires quite different methods from most of the ranch products of this section though it seems much pleasead with its Southern California environment and is thriving encouragingly according to Mr. Salyer's experience. The leaves are picked several times during a season, much as are tea leaves and are dried before being shipped. The yield is said to be about 1000 pounds of dried leaves per acre.

Mr. Salyer is now harvesting his first crop of this odd product, the first that has been raised in this locality. The planting was made in March, after the rains. He finds the plants subject to attack by a number of pests, the eradication of which is difficult as spraying with most preparations which will destroy the pests will also harm the tender leaves. In spite of these difficulties, however, growth has been rapid and prolific and seems to bear out the prediction made by some authorities that the raising of belladonna may become quite an industry in this part of the world.

DANA BURKET SAILS

GLENDALE BOY WITH CAMP KEARNY BASE HOSPITAL ON WAY TO FRANCE

Mrs. Charles W. Burket has been notified by telegram that her son, Dana Burket, who left Camp Kearny on July 4th with the base hospital No. 35, sailed on Sunday evening, after being five days en route and four days at Camp Merritt, New Jersey, which is being used now entirely as an embarkation camp. Mrs. Burket received a letter from her son every day after his leaving Glendale and so has much interesting news of the trip.

The soldiers enjoyed an unusual experience in crossing the country two ways, going north from the Mexican border to Canada, and traveling from the Pacific to the Atlantic. Mr. Burket reports a delightful trip with universally good treatment all along the line. At San Bernardino the boys were treated to the first ripe apricots of the season and, in characteristic fashion for each locality, were greeted with like treats by the people of the whole country from south to north and west to east. At Kansas City a men's club turned over their entire building to them during a Sunday afternoon respite from traveling, in which they were allowed the privilege of showers and bathing pools and other pleasures. At Detroit, Michigan, a women's organization served them with a splendid dinner, the fame of which will doubtless go over the entire country in letters as enthusiastic as Mr. Burket's.

The soldier boys traveled first class all the way and "were treated more than generously by Uncle Sam," to quote one of the letters. At Camp Merritt, which is beautifully located in a great grove of trees, entirely new outfits of clothing and equipment were furnished the men, everything of the best wool. The old outfits will be used in camps in this country. Mr. Burket, who is doing clerical work, said that the office force was kept busy in day and night shifts for the four days before leaving for over-seas service. He sends greetings to all his Glendale friends, many of whom he saw on the last day of June when he made his last visit home and sang in his old place in the Methodist choir.

"FATTY" COMES TO GLENDALE

"Fatty" Arbuckle has rented studio space at the Diando Film company and expects to move next week. Together with the Gale Henry company, which will also start work next week, this new addition to the local film world brings the companies working at the Diando plant up to five, three being of their own organization.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Friday. Cloudy near the coast tonight and tomorrow. Light westerly winds.

LEADERS NEEDED

SCOUT MOVEMENT RECEIVES NEW IMPETUS IN GLENDALE WITH FORMING OF COUNCIL

With the recent organization of a Boy Scout Council in the Glendale Union District, scouting is to receive a new impetus in this section of the county. The district for scout purposes includes Glendale, Tropico district, Casa Verdugo, Burbank and Eagle Rock. Representative business men have accepted places upon the Council. At the recent organization meeting, Charles H. Toll was chosen President of the Council, J. R. White, Jr., was chosen Secretary, and Dan Campbell, Treasurer. Other members of the Council are Messrs. R. D. White, C. W. Ingledue, Cameron Thom, Ralph Church of Burbank and P. H. Ducker, of Eagle Rock.

The July meeting of the Council was held last Tuesday evening at the Third street school. At this meeting the following committees, appointed by the President, were ratified: Publicity, Messrs. Thom, Ducker and Church; Educational, Messrs. R. D. White, Campbell and Ducker; Extension, Messrs. J. R. White, Jr., Ingledue and Campbell; Finance, Messrs. Church, Thom and Ingledue. The work of these committees was outlined and reports upon many matters of importance to the movement are expected at the September meeting.

The Council appointed R. L. McNitt, Scoutmaster of Troop 1, Eagle Rock, and a pioneer in scouting in this district, Deputy Commissioner for the District. Mr. McNitt outlined plans for the work during the summer and urged preparation for intensive work in the fall, after the opening of the schools.

Charles Miller, Field Executive for Los Angeles county, was present and discussed the proposed County organization, of which Glendale Union District is a part. The County has been divided into twelve districts and is hoped that all of the districts will be organized into the Greater Los Angeles Scout Council by early fall. The local Council voted to affiliate with the general county organization.

At the present time, there are two troops of scouts in Geindale very much in need of leaders. Tropico 1 and Glendale 1 are both without Scoutmasters. This matter is giving the Extension Committee some difficulty, but it is hoped that some good men will soon be found to take up the work with these boys. Men who are interested in boy's work and who are available for this work will confer a favor if they will communicate with Mr. Toll or with the members of the Extension Committee, who will outline the nature of the work to them. The scout movement has had a great growth since the entrance of the United States into the war. The part which the boys have taken in the winning of the war has made it one of the essential parts of the war organization scheme. Men should respond at this time particularly to assist in directing them.

PENSION GRANTED

Mrs. Frances Rinard of 1612 Vine street received a telegram this morning from Congressman Randall stating that her widow's pension of $25 a month had just been granted, giving her a litle over $200 back pay, and she will also get the amount of her late husband's accrued pension at the time of his death. Mr. Randall's persistent work on behalf of this sorely afflicted lady was the sole cause of her claim going through four months sooner than had it taken the routine course.—A Neighbor.

All right, just so it doesn't turn out like Randall's independent postoffice for Glendale two years ago—a pre-election delusion.

GO TO SEATTLE

MR. AND MRS. LAWRENCE ELLIS MAKE PLANS TO GO NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ellis, of 537 South Kenwood avenue, who are planning to make their new home in Seattle, Washington, where Mr. Ellis's business takes him, will probably leave on Tuesday of next week, though definite arrangements have not been completed and a decision has not been reached as to whether the trip will be made by machine or train.

Mrs. Ellis resigned her position as chairman of the hospital garment department of the Red Cross last week, and announces that her work will be carried on by Mrs. Helen Sadler, who has been her able assistant. Mrs. R. P. Jodon, who has been in charge of the sewing of the Christian Church Aid Society, will be Mrs. Sadler's assistant.

UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING

The American Medical Association has contributed a strong document on the affirmative side of that question of compulsory military training which is destined to come up for speedy settlement very soon after the war ends. By a unanimous vote, the association at its sixty-ninth annual convention recently closed at Chicago passed a resolution endorsing universal military training. It even went so far as to urge that such training be made a prerequisite of the right of suffrage. It insisted that all young men should have military training before they be allowed to vote. It strongly recommended the early adoption of universal compulsory military training as a permanent national policy.

In taking this position in such positive terms, the association entirely eliminated the matter of war preparedness. It rested its entire case on sanitary and hygienic grounds. The whereases preliminary to the resolution itself recite the observations and experiences of medical men in connection with the formation of our present armies and the deductions they have drawn therefrom.

The recent selective draft medical inspection of the young men of the country has amounted to an inventory of our national health such as we have never had before. Its results were only moderately satisfactory. They revealed that a large percentage of our young men were unfit for military service, and that in the majority of cases were unfit from causes that were curable. They were causes which would not have existed had those suffering from them been subjected for a reasonable antecedent term to the regimen, discipline and exercise of military training. This is demonstrated by what the association characterizes as "the wonderful mental and physical benefits which have been manifested in the young manhood of America through intensive military training in the national army cantonments." In addition to these actually accomplished results, the association holds that this training has done much to inculcate the knowledge and value of sanitation and personal hygiene in the individual, a knowledge, which with the hygienic habit-forming discipline of the army must inevitably add to the productive power and good citizen efficiency of every young man who acquires it, in whatever walk of life he may elect to follow.

Now of course against this hard common sense all the forces of pacifism, bolshevikery and sentimentalism are bound to be arrayed when this inevitable post bellum issue is presented. The thank-God-we-are-not-prepared cohorts will be heard from in full volume and strident protests ranging through all the gamut from rumbling organ groans to hysterical shrieks. They will have learned nothing from this war any more than they did from the revelations of our pitiful plight which the little scuffle with Spain brought to the surface. They never learn anything from any experience, however bitter and humiliating, which conflicts with their fads and theories. The old foolish wails of "militarism" will go up at the first suggestion that we have any sane organization and preparation for national defense. The arguments and appeals of the highest authority we have on National sanitation will be of no avail. They will be swept aside as mere subterfuges to cover sinister war projects.

And as for making military training a condition precedent to suffrage, it does not require much imagination to picture the uproar a proposition of that kind would cause.

Of course, there will be young men who from absolutely prohibitive physical infirmities will not be able to undergo military training. To exclude these from the ballot would be so obviously an injustice that no enactment would contemplate it for a minute, nor would any such enactment in all probability stand the test for constitutionality. In fact the enactment of any laws to meet the Medical Association's suffrage demand probably would have formidable constitutional snags before it became a stabilized portion of our governmental machinery. But the Medical Association is made up of doctors, not lawyers. As doctors they saw the immense benefits that would accrue to the physical and mental efficiency of our rising generation of young manhood from the discipline and exercise incident to military training. So they put themselves on record as forcibly as they knew how, in favor of such training.

And the weight of such authority will be of immense service when the question comes before the country for decision. The opposition will be formidable. As the Administration and Congress are at present constituted, the result, if the matter were now brought to the test, would be rather more than doubtful. But when it is brought to the test, there will be new forces in the political fields. The millions of men in the armies will be here and will be heard from. It is just as certain that they will not be pacifists as it is that they are not now, never have been, and never will be mollycoddles. The value with them of military training will not be a theory but a demonstrated fact. The vital importance of war preparedness will be something about which they will be qualified to speak out of the abundance of their experience and suffering from war unpreparedness. And what the post bellum soldier vote says will be apt to go, the pacifists, the practical politicians and the all 'round cranks of the country notwithstanding. We have a temporary injunction against war preparedness slacking in full force at this moment. When the war is ended the injunction will be made permanent, unless our reading of the tendency of the times is all wrong, and it will be the weight of the soldier vote that will do it.—North American Review's War Weekly.

TO THE FARMERETTES

By Roscoe Denny

The milkmen from the garns are gone
And from the fields the jay;
And in their place the Farmerettes
Are lab-ring day by day.
The Boys have gone to fight the Hun,
They're side by side in France
With all the Sons of Liberty
To Freedom's cause enhance.

And now the rosy Farmerettes
Are trampling o'er the lea;
They are trampling out the vintage
For the Boys across the sea;
They're plowing up the valley,
They are raking in the hay,
And we are sure that Women's Suffrage
Now has won its day.

They volunteered their services,
They did not wait for draft;
With hoes and rakes and forks
They stormed the truck both fore and aft.
Their mothers bade them fond farewells,
They shed not e'en a tear,
For well they knew that they'd return
And be to them more dear.

Their graceful forms glide blithely
As they tread behind the plow;
The plough-horse labors willingly,
The bit tastes sweeter now;
And as they cluck and say "Get up,
"We're in this war to win,"
He jumps into the collar
And is off with all his vim.

They are planting corn and beans
For making succotash,
And spuds and onions also
For the Irish stews and hash;
They are gathering in the fruit crop,
The apple and the peach,
The cherries from the cherry tree,
Far out as they can reach.

With all the eyes the 'taters have,
Why should they stay below
While on the earth the Fairies tread
With ruddy cheeks aglow?
The furrows hardly have been filled
Before they're bursting forth,
With no fears for the boiling sun,
Nor bleak winds of the north.

The arrots, beets and tomatoes
Have pledged their loyal blood
To the aid the boys across the Deep
To stem the Hunny flood;
Corn silks like fairy maiden's hair
Are waving in the breeze,
Red peppers grow to tree-like size
To make the Kaiser sneeze,

O Farmerettes, sweet Farmerettes!
You are a foxy bunch;
I'll wager my last dollar bill
That you've received the hunch
That when the Boys return from France
With all their outdoor life,
They'll want to settle on a ranch,
And sure they'll want a wife;

And who is more deserved to share
The home of that brave lad,
Than she who in the hour of need
Produced the meat and bread
Which fed the soldier in the trench
Along the Somme and Marne,
And it's but just that you should wed
And live down on the farm.

STATE NEWS

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., July 8.—The annual convention of Christian Churches of Northern California was well under way here today following the opening of the principal business session yesterday. The convention is a group of conferences lasting more than a week, the first conference having been held Monday. President H. O. Breeden of Fresno delivered the annual address at the main convention while the Rev. G. W. Brewster of Oakland reported at length on the work of the missionary department, of which he is the superintendent.

MODESTO, Cal., July 8.—Affiliation of the cattlemen of Stanislaus county with the State Cattlemen's Association was the chief matter for discussion at a meeting of cattlemen held here this afternoon. County Farm Adviser A. A. Jungermann has taken the lead in the plan for the organization of the Stanislaus cattlemen and called today's meeting.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—Several hundred students and faculty members from western schools and colleges reported at the San Francisco Presidio today for the 60-day training camp for military instructors. The camp will close September 18. The camp is being held under a plan of the government to provide instructors for American colleges who will be equipped to give military training to college men and still continue regular educational work. The men completing the course satisfactorily will be given certificates of qualification as assistant instructors for military institutions. During the training camp period they will rank as privates in the army. The University of California is represented at the camp by 80 stduents and 10 members of the faculty and other western universities and colleges by proportionate numbers.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS

The day of the specialist has arrived in the ranks of the automobile thief. The law has stretched out its myriad hands and brought retribution to thousands of purloiners of cars and it is the common opinion of authorities that fewer crooks than ever are now engaged in making it uncomfortable for automobilists. But the remaining offenders have developed a finesse of method and operation that is keeping the most astute detectives guessing.

The Theft Bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California has, during the past week, unearthed several interesting instances of the modern gas Raffles at work. Brass knuckles, "suicide" guns and lead pipe are now in the discard. Here is one way that the trick is turned: Two prosperous appearing strangers step in on a motor car dealer and purchase a machine, paying cash. They receive the car and a bill of sale bearing the motor number of their purchase. The next step is to dispose of the machine thus purchased, even if a slight sacrifice is incurred. The two criminals then steal a car of exactly the same model as that purchased and sold by them, erase the motor number of this gas wagon with an emery wheel and with the aid of acid and a set of dies engrave on the motor the number quoted on the bona fide bill of sale of the car previously purchased. Under these conditions a conviction is almost impossible, since the firm selling the car to the thieves has no other alternative but to verify the bill of sale when queries are made.

Detective Powell of the Auto Club's Theft Bureau believes that the only way to check this dodge is to require the licensing of all die-makers and require these parties to report the receipt of any unusual order to the police. Every make of machine uses a different style or size of die in its stampings and the thief must provide himself with a set accommodated to the particular machine upon which he is working.

Another "stunt" worked recently near Los Angeles and which bids fair to become a stock trick with the thieving gentry consists in stealing a car, thoroughly rebuilding it and then dropping in on a notary public in some small town to have a typewritten bill of sale witnessed. In this instance the thief takes with him another of the gang who is heeled with quite an amount of cash. This bank-roll changes hands before the eyes of the notary, as if the sale were actually being made and the notary affixes his seal to the document which had previously been drawn up by the thieves themselves and bears the motor number placed by them on the stolen car. Thus the rebuilt machine acquires a seemingly clear title which is capable of giving the officers all kinds of trouble The success of this scheme lies in the laxity of the notary who is not supposed to affix his seal except for persons personally known to him.

A case recently brought to the attention of the Auto Club tells of the apprehension of a Ford thief who had stolen and disposed of over seventy cars since the first of the year. This criminal had organized a gang extending from Washington down to San Francisco. In December of 1917, through a Ford agent in a small town of Washington, the head of the gang secured the motor numbers of eight Fords just assembled and about to be delivered to owners in the State of Washington. He then proceeded to Oregon and applied for eight licenses in his own name, giving the motor numbers secured in Washington, although at that time he was not in possession of a single car. After securing the license plates, he began an orgy of stealing which baffled detectives for several months. Touring cars were converted into roadsters and roadsters into touring cars and driven by members of the gang to small towns where a sale could be effected quickly at a low price. At the time of his apprehension the head of this outfit was in possession of a small fortune with his entire stock in trade consisting of but eight license plates, a set of dies and an emery wheel.

BEARER OF GOOD CHEER

John Kendrick Bangs is back from the front. He took a message of merry good cheer to the boys over there and he brought another message of equally good cheer from the boys to the home folks. And that is not all. The statement he makes as to the boys' conduct is all on the credit side. The statement as to their personal conduct, that is. As to their fighting conduct, we knew what that would be before they started. When the reports along that line began to come in there was no surprise here although there clearly was a little among our French and English friends. And, as for the Huns, their surprise passed that of all the rest. Even the Huns have had to admit that our lads will fight, fight like wild-cats,—like "devil-hounds" as they put it. But we lack training, lack experience and lack a lot of other things they are trying to console themselves with. Oh well, the boys will be able to satisfy them in all these particulars before the last great battle is won.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nicholson, of 215 East Third street, are moving today to 818 West Seventh street.

Miss Sara Pollock, of 702 West Seventh street, returned on Tuesday from a ten-day visit in Santa Barbara.

Mrs. Grace Halliday has traded her house and lot at 1612 Vine street for a very desirable lot in Inglewood and some cash.

Mrs. R. L. Hendricks, with her children Katherine and Robert, went to Ocean Park last Monday to remain a month.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans and their daughter Catherine are planning to leave the first of the week for a month's vacation at Hermosa Beach, where they will have a cottage.

Ernest Koershgen and wife, of 1641 Elk avenue, are rejoicing over the arrival this morning of a lusty boy baby. They already have a 2-year-old girl.

Mrs. Laura L. Fortunato with her niece, Miss Ruth Morton, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Grawitz, all of 1018 Chestnut street, left this morning for a two weeks' vacation trip to Catalina Island.

Householders are getting onto the new names of the streets very quickly. Already we hear glib mention of Garfield avenue, Windsor drive and Elk avenue, formerly 10th, 9th and 7th streets.

Mrs. J. W. Dalrymple, of 537 North Central avenue, has as her house guest a niece, Mrs. L. K. Powell, wife of Judge Powell of Mt. Gilead, Ohio, who arrived on Saturday and will probably be with Mr. and Mrs. Dalrymple for several months.

Mrs. Charles F. Parker, of 227 Central avenue, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Lyman of Santa Barbara, and on her return was accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Lyman, who motored down in their Buick and have left for a vacation in the San Bernardino mountains.

Miss Jane Carmel Brennan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Brennan of 147 South Brand boulevard, arrived on Tuesday, July 16, at the Burbank Hospital. Tiny Miss Brennan is the pride of her family, and weighed 8½ pounds. Both Mrs. Brennan and the baby are doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fife, who have been living at 432 South Louise, have purchaesd the residenec property at 128 South Orange street of J. W. Clendenin, formerly the Ginn place, and will move to their new home next Monday. Mrs. Rebecca McDonald and daughter, who have been living at 128 Orange, have moved to 1320 North Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sherwood, of 1326 North Maryland avenue, for several years residents of Glendale, are moving today to their new home, 2621 Dalton avenue, Los Angeles, in order to be nearer Mr. Sherwood's work in Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood have made many friends in Glendale who will greatly miss them.

Dr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Thornton of San Diego, who are enjoying a vacation at various places of interest throughout Southern California and have been spending the past week with Dr. Andrew's sister in Hollywood, were the guests for the day on Thursday of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. MacIntyre at their home, 142 South Central avenue, motoring on from Glendale to Camp Baldy.

Philips Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Henderson, of 611 North Louise street, has just returned from a week spent in San Francisco as the guest of W. J. Hennesy, of Burlingame, Cal. Young Henderson, who is 15 years of age, with a boy friend, met their host at San Jose and motored on up to San Francisco, where the two boys were given "the time of their lives" by Mr. Hennesy, who evidently enjoys seeing boys have a good time. Seeing San Francisco in the way that they did it is pronounced a huge success by both of the young guests.

An item of interest to Glendale people is the latest move of the famous ex-bandit and evangelist, Al Jennings, whose conversion occurred in Glendale at the First Baptist church a number of years ago under the persuasion of Rev. J. H. Troy. Mr. Jennings, with his brother and bandit partner, Frank, has been added to the list of converts of "the movies," and they have just finished a picture depicting the early depredations of their lawless lives as western bad men. Where and when the picture will be shown is not as yet decided, but Mr. Jennings declares that he wants it to appear in Glendale that the people here may see from what their good offices saved his soul. The name of the picture is "The Lady of the Dugout."

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hunchberger, with their little daughter Virginia, who will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goodwin, expect to leave on Saturday for a motor trip which will take them to the high Sierras. They will take a cottage at the General Grant National Park, where the ladies will stop while the men take a hike of 25 miles up over a trail that leads over the highest mountains of California. The party plans to be away for a month.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, of 106 South Orange street, will be hostess on Friday at her Hermosa Beach summer cottage to the executive board of the District Federation of Woman's clubs, of which Mrs. Jones is president. Mrs. H. D. Goss, who has been elected district corresponding secretary, and Mrs. H. S. Duffield, who is the publicity chairman, are the invited guests from Glendale, though Mrs. Duffield will be unable to be present because of the illness of her mother.

Mrs. Lawrence Ellis was honor guest at an afternoon party given in were Mesdames Lawrence Ellis, A. E. Evans at her home, 113 Orange street. Five Hundred was played and Mrs. Ellis was awarded the guest prize as a farewell memento, as she is to leave next week for her new home in Seattle. Refreshments were delightfully served. Those present were Mesdames Lawrenec Ellis, W. L. Weaver, J. G. Hunchberger, Warren Roberts, Walter Stamps, Pauline Russell, Harry Lockwood, Harry Goodwin, Emil Tholen, Genevieve Goss, Benjamin Logan and W. E. Evans.

BYSTANDER'S NOTES

By "K"

The First Christian Church of Glendale has inaugurated a "church night," which is Wednesday night of each week. Six ladies of the congregation are chosen for each month to provide a substantial repast, to be partaken of between 6 and 7. From 7 to 8 committees of the various organizations within the church hold their meetings and from 8 to 9 is held prayer meeting and Bible study. Wednesday night, July 10, was the first attempt and 30 partook of the eatable, most of them staying to prayer meeting. Forty were present last night.

Transfusion of blood was described many years ago by a great English writer as a "medical practice impossible in theory yet successful in fact." It has been denounced by many medical men as a fraud, yet it is practiced with great success in many instances, just the same as skin grafting. There is a young married lady in Glendale who every week gives two ounces of bright, healthy blood from her strong, perfect body, to be pumped into those of a sick friend.

It is gratifying to read that Dr. Garfield, fuel administrator, has notified the brewers of the country that they can have no more fuel to make beer with. No doubt it is a stunning blow to these Kaiserites that their paramount desires should thus be subordinated to the needs of the common people, but they will have to submit as the tide has turned and they will henceforward be treated, not as enemies perhaps, as they undoubtedly should be, but as a class who no longer run this great country.

A war garden on Lomita avenue near Central has for one attraction several rows of corn grown from seed sent from Tennessee. Some of the stalks are over 12 feet high and the ears are almost above reach. It is quite a refreshing sight to us "down east" farmers. Another novelty is several rows of vigorous looking potatoes that were planted on July 4 and came through the ground on the 14th. This is a wonderful growth, as potaotes generally take from four weeks to two months to come through.

WILL SEW FOR RED CROSS

The ladies of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Columbus avenue school will sew at the school Friday afternoon from 1:30 to 5. Please come and bring your thimbles.

MICHIGAN STATE SOCIETY

The Mihcigan State Society all-day outing picnic announced for next Saturday at Santa Monica on the new municipal pier will present a choice patriotic program at 1:30, the principal speaker being the well-known leader of the noted "Four-Minute Men," William P. Battelle. A new "America"—the Prayer Hymn for World Democracy—by Dr. G. P. Waring will be sung by all for the first time. Municipal band, coffee and coaster rides free to all who secure badges.

SAMUEL YOUNG, Pres.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

All Sunday School workers and their friends are most cordially invited to attend the Presbyterian church this evening at 7:45 to hear Rev. H. A. Dowling, a Sabbath School expert who is superintendent of the Sabbath School of the Church of the Open Door in Los Angeles. He will speak of "The Teacher's Great Objective." All who are at all interested should hear this address. No collection or financial appeal. Everybody welcome.

FAREWELL FUNCTION

MRS. BARTLETT WILL ENTERTAIN SATURDAY AFTERNOON FOR MRS. ELLIS

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, 101 South Brand boulevard, will be at home from three to five o'clock, Saturday afternoon, July 20th, in honor of Mrs. Lawrence Ellis, who is leaving Glendale next week for a new home in Seattle.

This announcement carries with it an invitation to friends of Mrs. Ellis in the Tuesday Afternoon Club, P. E. O. chapters and Red Cross, to meet her on this occasion.

MAKING A FINE START

"At present," said Orville Wright just a year ago this month, "the difference between five years more of war and an early peace with victory for the Allies is 10,000 airplanes." We did not have any over there then of course but the first of July in the Baker-Creel prophetic visions we were to have 20,000 at the front, was it not? So according to the Wright figures of 10,000 to do the job if the 20,000 were there the war ought to be at its windup before the summer is over. But Mr. Baker has quit dreaming, real folks have begun working, the aircraft factory wheels are humming, and we are making a fine start towards getting there.

THE MAKING OF YOSEMITE

After the visitor to the Yosemite Valley has recovered from his first shock of astonishment—for it is no less—at the supreme beauty of the valley, inevitably he wonders how nature made it. However did it happen that walls so enormous rose so nearly perpendicular from so level a floor.

It will not lessen wonder to learn that it was water which cut most of this deep valley in the solid granite. Originally the Merced river flowed practically at the level of the canyon top. How long it took its waters, enormous in volume then, no doubt, to scrape with tools of sand this valley thousands of feet into the living granite, no man can even guess. And, as it cut the valley, it left the tributary streams sloping even more sharply from their levels until eventually they poured over brinks as giant waterfalls.

But geologists have determined, by unerring fact, that the river did by far the most of the work, and that the great glacier which followed the water ages afterwards did little more than square its corners and steepen its cliffs. It may have increased the depth from seven hundred to a thousand feet, not more.

During the uncountable years since the glaciers vanished, erosion has again marvelously used its wonder chisel. With the lessening of the Merced's volume, the effect was no longer to deepen the channel but to amazingly carve and decorate the walls.

OUR TRANSPORTATION PROBLEMS

Some of our national transportation problems and difficulties can be better understood when it is remembered that in the northeastsern section of the United States, including New York, Pennsylvania, adjoining States, and New England, the population is 693 persons to every mile of railroad; in the South the figures are 407 persons per mile; and in the West, 252.

There are 15 square miles of land to every mile of railroad in the West, while in the East there is 1 mile of railroad to every 5 square miles of land. There are innumerable factories in this eastern theater, and the bringing in of coal and raw material and the carrying out of manufactured products make up a tremendous freight tonnage.

The Railroad Administration is solving gradually many problems. By the elimination of many unnecessary passenger trains several thousand engines are diverted from passenger to freight traffic, which relieves the situation materially. Also by loading the freight cars to full capacity a great saving is being accomplished. Routing freight by the most direct route, and other methods adopted by the administration, are doing much to ease the strain on our transportation facilities.

The Sugar Situation

In order to sell sugar we have signed the following contract:

"I hereby agree that I will not knowingly sell any family sugar in quantities greater than at the rate of (3) pounds per person per month. And I also agree to take a statement from my customers that they have not purchased sugar in excess of three (3) pounds per person per month."

Sending children around to several stores to get sugar will, if continued, get the parents of the children in trouble.

MUST CARRY CREDENTIALS

It is wise to carry an identification card with you nowadays, for you may need it very much and be saved some trouble. A lady from Tujunga went to visit a relative at one of the beaches, taking with her some choice viands. Not finding the relative at home, she remembered previous instructions, went around to the back of the house, drew up a box, opened a window and crawled in. While putting away the things she had brought, a form of a man appeared at the window and demanded why she was there. She explained the relationship and showed the packages she had brought. She then asked him "why it was his business," and opening his coat he showed his star and remarked her story sounded "fishy." As she had no way to prove who she was, she was taken in a car to the police station and again questioned, but her answers were unsatisfactory and they refused to allow her the use of the telephone or to take her to people who could identify her. Meanwhile her husband went to the station and on not finding her, went to the relative's home and the neighbors told him his wife was taken away by the police. It did not take him long to find the lady and exonerate her from suspicion of being a burglar or spy, but hereafter she says she will have an identification card with her in order not to have to spend her week end at the police station instead of the beach home of her friends.

Such a busy day at Red Cross; $147 worth of petticoat material to be cut up for the children of France. Downstairs busy shears were cutting the garments by the dozen. All day long many women stood at the tables and cut the blue material up into the prescribed size. Upstairs the busy machines hummed diligently while the little skirts took shape. The workers could not help but remember why they sewed and even picture the sorry little bits of humanity they sewed for and would be made somewhat happier because they would be by that much warmer. Come and sew and get your heart thrilled also.

The Food Administration of Los Angeles county, through its Woman Director, Elizabeth M. Mumford, promises that a food demonstrator who speaks Spanish or one who speaks Italian will be sent out here on request. Do we want to have one come out? The subject of the talk would be on the food problem. We hear on every side, "Food will win the war."

Heard at the Farm Bureau, Thursday of last week: Coolie labor will be welcomed. Spray lead arsenate at blossom time of tomatoes. $60 is offered for choice table tomatoes. Canneries offer $18 this year as against $8 of two or three years ago. Stone tomatoes good commercial variety. Plant in rows 4x6 feet or 6x6 feet apart. Mrs. Jessica Hazzard, who is a Government District Agent Demonstrator, was attentively heard on the food question. Shall we organize a Women's Home Department of the arm Bureau? Mrs. Hazzard will come morning, afternoon or evening for demonstration. You say when . The little that one person can do to help in the food problem when multiplied by the millions of helpers might be stated thus: One one-ounce slice of bread saved each day in 22,000,000 homes in one week would equal 25,648 barrels of flour.

The author of the following verse is a teacher in the New York schools and is from Prague, Bohemia. This poem first appeared in the Magazine School. Col. Roosevelt in a note to the author wished the poem could be placed in every school house in the land.

"To these broad shores my fathers came,
From lands beyond the sea;
They left their homes, they left their friends
To breathe an air more free.
To them an alien land it seemed,
With customs strange and new,
But my heart knows just one dear flag,
The Red, the White, the Blue.

Columbia, to me thou'st been
A mother fond and true;
My heart's best love and loyal trust
I gladly offer you.
Let others sing of native lands
Far o'er the ocean's foam—
The spot where floats the Stars and Stripes
Shall ever be my home.

There is no hyphen in my heart;
It can't be cut in two.
O flag of bars and silver stars,
I've given it all to you."
—Josephine M. Fabricant.

"The Emergency Fleet Corporation awarded six flags for the best ship production and it may interest you to know that all six flags came to the Pacific Coast." Quoted from a Los Angeles paper dated since the Fourth of July.

Burr avenue residents feel much encouraged now the inconveniences attendant on the street improvement so much desired are beginning. The street was plowed up on Wednesday and blocked ready for the next move.

HOW TO CAN PEACHES

Before preparing fruit make sirup (three pounds nine ounces sugar to one gallon of water or five pounds eight ounces sugar to one gallon of water), allowing about one cupful of water for each quart jar. Put in one cracked peach pit for every quart of sirup. Boil sirup for five minutes. Strained honey or other sirups can be used in place of a part of the sirup usually required.

Sort the fruit, using firm, sound, uniform peaches for canning and putting aside the soft broken ones for jam. Peeling may be done by immersing in boiling water about one minute or until skins slip easily. Remove, plunge for a minute into cold water, and slip off the skins. Cut into halves and pack at once in previously boiled jars, placing the halves in overlapping layers, the concave surface of each half being downward and the blossom end facing the glass. Fill each jar with the hot sirup and paddle carefully to remove air bubbles. Partially seal jars. Boil (process) quart jars in a water bath for 20 minutes and half gallons 35 minutes. When thoroughly cold test jars for leaks. Store in a cool, dark, dry place.

Firm, perfect peaches may be floated in boiling water for about 20 seconds after being peeled. They are then cut in halves, seeds removed, and packed as indicated above. Peaches floated in this manner are made more flexible and pack to better advantage. They also become mellow, absorb more sirup and are finer in flavor.—United States Department of Agriculture.
